CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT.

There has been much said about extending the constitution to territories acquired by the United States. It has been and is claimed by men, who should be statesmen to act in the position they occupy, that it requires an act of Congress to carry the constitution to an outlying possession ceded to the people by another power.

The effect of the position is to create odds and ends in government in ceded territory till Congress has sent the constitution to a people so unfortunate as to occupy a dependent relation through cession made to the great Republic.

There are other effects which can only be disastrous to a people afflicted with a dependent relation arising from views connected with established relations in fact, that the constitution does not apply by reason of its own force to insular territory which are dangerous in their nature.

The foundations of a constitutional system in disconnected territory are not merely attacked, as they are abolished by a constitutional government, which presents an anomaly of system producing chaos. The chaos is necessarily authorized by the constitution, provided it is within its purview and if not within its range there is an admitted weakness in the United States form of government which should be remedied as soon as it is possible to provide a remedy.

One of the clearest and most concise writers on constitutional government has given its theory in a sentence. "The constitutional government is the sovereignty of society organized." In the construction given the non-operation of the constitution in acquired territory, both the theory and the fact of sovereignty of society are set aside, as there cannot be any sovereignty of society where the constitution is prohibited from entering without license given by Congress to enter. There cannot be any such condition as system or organization under a constitutional system when the constitution is not present and acting. When there is no constitutional system there cannot be present free government by or for the people.

In the absence of constitutional or free government there should be present some form of government as there always has been in forms less advanced than the constitutional system, but as altitude is gained in government it seems to become more like nature as altitude is attained, less generalized by becoming more centralized in form and system. A one man government is capable of giving more variety and less system in government than any other form, but as elevation is secured in the order of government there is less variety and more system.

When a nation or a people become advanced in intelligence they seek the best form of government to be secured, which is the constitutional form and as a result of intelligence they disapprove of any other form, which is a result they cannot control as it is a part of their intelligence.

When a constitutional system has been adopted by a nation and it is ascertained that it is not equal to the demands made upon it as adopted, it should be the first duty of the people when the discovery is made to improve upon the system as adopted by enlarging its operation in a manner that will remove the application of the constitution from the influence of politics or from party manipulation. More particularly should it be removed from political influence, when its operation is sought to be controlled for political party purposes, or is controlled in the interests of those who control a political party.

A suspension of constitutional authority by a constitutional government from any cause has one of two effects and it may be both effects will be present. Society, when subject to a suspension of the constitution, is only a social mass, moving about at hazard, struggling with the chances of revolution, or if not so moving about, there must be during a removal of constitutional authority or its non-application to a people, if authority is maintained a substitution of the will of one man or the will of more than

NEVER IMITATED - QUALITY.

AN EXCELLENT COMBINATION.

The pleasant method and beneficial effect of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinal laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the figs are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

one man, which takes the absolute form, which is descending to the lowest form of government among civilized men and gives the character of a half barbarous people to those who continue to submit to it. Which is not all there is to an absolute form when authorized by a superior people as the half barbarous character of the people to whom it is applied reflects upon those who authorize an absolute form and gives to them largely the character of a half barbarous people, which is not flattering to their intelligence or to their humanity, as the latter is an outgrowth of intelligence and refinement.

HORSE THIEF CAPTURED.

J. H. Boyd, the thief who annexed Robert Eason's horse and buggy last week, was captured Saturday night in Winnemucca Valley by Deputy Constables McNeilly and Robinson. They tracked him through the Truckee Meadows and Spanish Spring Valley, Meadows and Spanish Springs Valley. The trail ended at the Gould ranch in Winnemucca Valley, where they caught their bird.

Boyd had arrived early that evening and had applied for work. He also wanted to sell the outfit. He said that the horse belonged to him and the buggy to his brother. Mr. Gould invited him to stay overnight.

When the officers' guns were thrown in his face he offered no resistance, but donned the shackles with good grace. He was guarded over night and brought to town the next day and lodged in jail. The prisoner was only recently discharged with honor from the United States army. He is a fair appearing fellow and is probably not old in crime, as he took a poor way to dispose of his swag.

RETURN OF AN ADVERTISER.

In tomorrow's Journal will appear an large double column advertisement of John Sunderland's clothing emporium. Mr. Sunderland carries the largest line of clothing and furnishing goods in the State. He has recently shelled a handsome line of summer goods which are offered at exceptionally low figures.

Ready-to-wear and tailor-made clothing to suit all tastes, all shapes and all pocket books. Watch for his summer announcement and profit thereby.

TAKEN ILL.

Constable Leeper was a very sick man last night. He was confined to his bed with an attack of pneumonia. It is supposed to have been caused by change of elevation during his trip to Modesto and back last week. The town is in such shape as a result of the operation of the vigilantes up the river that Charley's recovery is more than ever desirous at this time.

ANOTHER CARLOAD.

Messrs. Cohn and Bryson, proprietors of the Monarch saloon, yesterday unloaded another carload of Anheuser-Busch beer. This is the only eastern "hop tonic" brought to Reno and is the purest and best manufactured. The shipment contained a quantity of beer. The Monarch handles beer in such quantity that the carload consignments are not very far between.

A quantity of Tonapah and Con. Virginia ore is passing through Reno daily. Some V & T trains carry several carloads of dividend paying ore.

LITTLE LOCAL BREVITY

Items of Street and Town Brief for Separate Heads.

Richard Gray, an old man who was known in this city, dropped dead in front of the Monarch saloon in Carson yesterday morning.

There was a heavy frost last night. Since the advent of cooler weather, the river has steadily receded. Although there was more snow than usual in the mountains last winter, the high water mark is below that of last spring. The snow is passing off very steadily and irrigators have nothing to complain of.

The Reno hotels are all crowded. Arrivals on the midnight train have often great difficulty obtaining rooms. It is rumored that a three-story lodging house is to be erected in this city. It would be a paying institution if the present boom continues.

The excursionists are drifting back from San Francisco. Every train brings half a dozen stragglers.

It is rumored that the old seminary building has been purchased by the Central Pacific Company and will be used for a railroad hospital.

Rattlesnakes are more plentiful than usual in the hills around Reno this spring. A prospector showed a Journal reporter yesterday a tobacco box filled with rattles, indicating the number of serpents he had slain thus far this season.

A fusillade of rocks, thrown by drunken hobos, created havoc in a Commercial Row saloon last night.

The case of the State vs. Walter Timblin, charged with felony, will come up in the District Court this morning.

The steeple of the Congregational Church looms up beautiful in a new coat of white paint. The St. Margaret Society "paid the freight."

The California Fish Commission, which is milking trout at their hatchery this side of the State line, will return the compliment extended them by Washoe county by returning 100,000 fry to the waters of this State.

The Garden City Wheelmen of San Jose expect to come to Reno June 30th to ride a fifty-mile relay with the coast champions, the Reno Wheelmen.

What disposition will be made of the $250 that the Reno Red Cross Society proposed some time ago to donate to this city?

The cold weather the past couple of nights has alarmed the fruit growers, but as yet the crop shows no signs of damage.

The School Trustees will meet Thursday evening to elect a principal.

Shipments of Bonanza rock from both the Wedekind and Bell mines were made yesterday in carload lots.

Harry Davis is agent for the Underwood typewriter—no better machine on the market. All kinds of typewriter supplies. A full line of novelties at the Model Store.

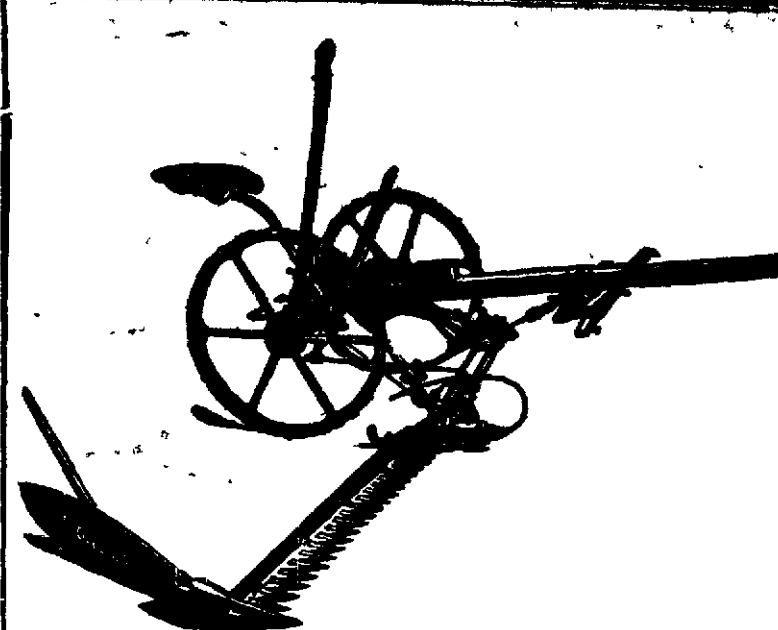

A gold watch has been lost. Reward will be paid for its return. See fifty-cent column.

Alex Domlack has remodeled the interior of the Reception saloon, making it one of the most attractive places in town.

The trial of Elmo Soso on the charge of murder will be called tomorrow morning in the District Court.

WHO IS A. SCOTT?

The following dispatch was printed yesterday in the San Francisco dailies: Phoenix, Ariz., May 19.—A. Scott, an aged resident of Reno, Nev., is lost and has doubtless perished on the desert near Beardsley station, twenty-five miles north of Phoenix. Scott was en route by wagon to Phoenix. Wednesday night he stopped at Beardsley and hobbled his horse. Thursday morning he went in search of his horse and has not been seen since.

TELEGRAPHIC

Murder Will Out.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The mystery of the death of John Ayers, the young census clerk who was murdered in a room at the Kenmore hotel, was solved yesterday when Mrs. Luella Bonin, a married woman, living at the hotel, confessed she killed Ayers. She said she was alone with him and he pretended he was sick. He threatened to shoot her if she did not submit to his wishes, and in the struggle for the pistol he was killed.

Strike Begun.

WASHINGTON, May 21. A great strike of machinists began yesterday all over the country. Reports at headquarters here show over 50,000 men out. Hundreds of firms accepted the terms of their men at once. The men demand nine hours a day with increased pay.

Mrs. McKinley still continues to improve and will probably leave for home in ten days.

HAPPENINGS IN AN UP-RIVER TOWN

The "Journal's" Verdi Correspondent Sends a Very Interesting Budget of News Items.

WEDDED IN RENO.

Frank Nicholas and Miss Rosie Menard of this place were married in Reno Wednesday last by the Rev. S. Uns worth.

The contracting parties were both born and raised in Verdi and were not from California as was previously stated in the press.

A public reception was given Thursday in Lonkey's Hall at which the young couple were congratulated by their many friends. Conversation and dancing was indulged in by old and young.

HARD CITIZENS.

Thursday seemed to be a gala day for drunks and thugs.

Two pills of bedding were stolen from the bath room of a saloon, two razors from the boarding house of the Verdi Lumber Company and an old man named John Henry was rolled while asleep and a silver watch was abstracted from his pocket.

The leader of the gang was located about dark and was about two hundred yards in advance of an officer when he entered the lumber yard. Although close watch was kept and the yard was searched the thief made his escape. Descriptions were wired east and west, but at last accounts he had not been captured.

A TRUCKEE REFUGEE.

Negro Brown, a notorious character who, until the "601" announced themselves as ready for business, resided in Truckee, was found basking in the sunshine here Friday morning.

Officed Coe presented his card to Brown, who left immediately for California.

WANT FIRE APPARATUS.

Apparatus here to be of the "except buckets."

On Monday also the theft of numerous things of late the citizens would rest much easier did they know their interests were in some degree protected. A small appropriation of say twenty or twenty-five dollars from the county would no doubt be readily increased by the residents as numerous ones have signified their willingness to do so. Take the matter up.

BIG FRUIT CROP.

An immense crop of apples will probably be realized this year. So far little damage has been done by frost.

ANOTHER ENGINE.

The second locomotive of the V. L. R. arrived Wednesday morning. It was the name of "Roberts" after Captain Roberts, Vice-president of the company.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEE.

A Mr. Cross has been engaged as an instructor for the new railroad and will arrive shortly from Wadsworth to assume his duties.

FISHERMAN INJURED.

Jean Reville, considered the most expert fisherman on the Truckee, fell upon some rocks while fishing, breaking a small bone in his right wrist.

GRAND LODGE DELEGATES.

E. Sowchereau, A. J. McGrew, L. F. Tony, H. F. O'Connor and M. L. Boren were elected representatives from the Grand Lodge, No. 20 K. of P. to the Grand Lodge which convenes next month in Carson.

NIGHT WATCHMAN NEEDED.

Verdi should have a night watchman or the next two or three months at least.

Owing to present conditions and the large number of tramps sleeping in buildings the place would be in the mercy of fire should one start.

SANITARY MATTER.

Commissioner Hymers has ordered the filthy ditch running through town cleaned, as a precaution against disease. Mr. Hymers' action is appreciated by the people of Verdi.

SPOT OF S.

Here is a spot of S. and Verdi Band.

Manager Condon of the Verdi Lumber Company is in San Francisco.

Arthur Condon is home from Alaska. Assessor Evans and wife are guests at the Union Hotel.

Andy Hampee was a visitor Friday. Jay Clemmons had business here Thursday.

WHO HAS THE MINE

Does the Reno Star Lead Continue
Down or Dip
8-ck?

The leading topic of conversation on the street and wherever prospectors and miners congregate is and for the past few weeks has been, "Who has the mine, Bell or Wedekind?"

Although future litigation will settle the one phrase of this question there is at present a dispute as to the downward course of the lead. While it remained in Reno Star ground it had but a slight southwesterly dip, probably not more than fifteen to twenty-five degrees from the horizontal. When the Reno Star side line was reached it began to pitch downward and more rapidly, and within a few feet of Bell's east line it seems to be nearly perpendicular.

The question is, will it turn clear over and dip to the northeast? It it does so it will put a couple of million dollars into Mr. Wedekind's pocket, even if he loses his appeal to the supreme court.

At present all indications are that Mr. Bell can sink several hundred feet in ore. The deeper he goes the better the rock becomes. No foot wall has yet been encountered and the workings are already 45 feet from the hanging wall and cutting stratum after stratum of bonanza ore. It is no exaggeration to say that there are millions in sight in the Bell workings already, and how much more will be blocked out the Lord only knows.

Bell shows confidence in his title and in the richness and continuity of the ore body that he is doing expensive lead work sinking a big shaft over which he will erect a hoist and drag fifty to one hundred tons of ore daily within the next month.

Preparations are making to begin toping on the Wedekind side of the lead line. Next week the Reno Star will begin extracting forty tons of ore of hundred dollar ore. There are several big fortunes in sight in the Reno Star ground. Nowhere in the ore values of less than $25 a ton.

BURNED TO DEATH

An Employee of the N.-C.-O. Meets
With an Accident That Ends His Life.

Four days ago Joseph Kraus entered the employ of the Nevada-California-Oregon Railway Company as an engine wiper. This morning his body lies in the Central Undertaking Parlor, burned beyond recognition.

It is not known how the accident occurred which resulted in his horrible death, but it is believed to have resulted from the explosion of an engine's torch which he carried on the rounds of his duties.

When the torch exploded a quantity of greasy waste, which was used in wiping the engines, took fire and the flames instantly communicated to his clothing which were saturated with oil. Before he could remove his garments he was fatally burned.

The fire spread to the cab and ten of the locomotive he was working.

On arrival of the department the body was extinguished by employees of the road. The fire occurred about four o'clock yesterday morning.

Mr. Kraus was removed to the county hospital, where he died a few hours later. A coroner's jury was summoned last night and an inquest will be held today.

The deceased has been in Reno only a short time. He was recently discharged from United States service and has campaigned in the Philippine Islands.

THIEF CAPTURED.

A hobo attempted to annex a suit of wearing apparel that was hanging in front of a Reno clothing store yesterday, but he reckoned without Officer McNelly, who saw the "lift" and pinched the "lifter."

THEY WERE ALL SCARED.

A Case of Highway Robbery With a Peculiar Ending.
What the hero of this story kicks about is the fact that his wife forgot her sacred word never to say anything regarding it. His business keeps him out late, and he frequently carries considerable money. When footpads are reported in evidence, he gets as near home as he can by street car and then takes the best lighted route to his house.
One night he had reached the front of his own place and had just drawn a long sigh of relief when the order "Hands up!" startled him into complaisance. One man held a gun in the immediate neighborhood of his ear and another systematically robbed him of everything worth carrying off. The order then was that he walk around the block so as to defer the use of his telephone, and it was clearly stated that any attempt to turn back, run or call for help would result in his being assassinated.
Before he reached the corner it struck him that the voice of one of the men sounded familiar and then that the owner was a near neighbor greatly given to practical joking. Back he went on tiptoes, his revolver in his right hand, and surprised the footpads as they were dividing the spoils. He made them lay everything on the walk, and when they straightened up awaiting the next order he discovered that both were total strangers. His hand dropped from sheer terror, and then the robbers ran out, while he sprinted the other way. Half an hour later he, his wife and a lantern, a revolver and the hired girl went out and found his money, watch, papers and diamond ring. His wife simply ruined the story by telling it first.—Detroit Free Press.

A Clever Canary.

A lady who had lost a canary happened to be attracted by a bird that was hopping about in its cage in the front window of a house in New York. Thinking that it looked very like her own, she knocked at the house door and asked a few questions about it. She was told that it had been found one cold morning sitting on the window sill and was taken in and cared for. The lady said her bird could perform the pretty feat of picking up a pin and sticking it in the carpet. Being allowed to test this bird, the cage door was opened and a pin thrown on the floor. The canary at once flew down to it, picked it up in its bill and cleverly stuck it upright in the carpet, after which it burst into song, as if rejoicing at its success. The folk of the house, believing the lady and proved her ownership of the bird, permitted her, says Little Folks, to take the songster away to her home.
